

CRIMINAL REPORTS OF NEW ZEALAND ONLINE

FEATURES AND BENEFITS

Criminal Reports of New Zealand (CRNZ)* is the longest-established series of law reports on New Zealand criminal law.

The series provides the best means of staying informed on or researching the most important developments in criminal law.

CRNZ was first published in 1986, with the first volume containing important cases from 1983 to 1986. The series has been continually published since, with about one volume being produced each year. The online database now contains over 2,000 of the most important decisions on New Zealand criminal law since 1983.

The CRNZ series covers all aspects of New Zealand criminal law, including procedural matters.

Cases reported are primarily High Court, Court of Appeal and Supreme Court decisions, along with Privy Council decisions and some judgments from the District Courts.

Brookers' legally-qualified and trained editors and reporters select cases which advance, explain or interpret this area of law. The headnotes provide all details necessary to decide whether a case is on point or will assist in the line of research being followed.
